Recent Operations

By Paul Radin

Burglars continue to carry away loot from various stores in these parts. The thieves must be pretty slick about their work since there have been no arrests made by any of the peace officers.

It would not be a peace officer who would find it necessary to stop at the Shorin domicile the trusty old short gun is loaded with buckshot.

I've been reading in a Lake City paper where the ex-prosecutor, Fred P. Cane, has been welcomed home after four years in Tallahassee. "Old Swane" can toast his shins around the fireplace and remind his friends that he carried out one of his promises in which he said: "We don't need no more taxes."

The new governor from Imperial Pdk met with the state school board the other day and made new work. A new chairman was elected. No resignations were accepted by Gov. Holland. Two members did not offer their. We'll just sit patiently by and wait for the lightning to strike.

I wonder how hard it would be to defeat Jerry Cane for the seat on the state railroad commission in the primary of May, 1942.

I see where our new sheriff, Jack Baker, and the police chief of West Palm Beach and Palm Beach, have just been elected to curb speeding in those two cities. More power to 'em. I just hope I remember to case my foot off the gas the next time I'm in town.

I see by the dailies that I'm going to be forced to dig up an extra $100 for that license tag I bought in December for 1941. The Chevrolet I came out in October and it took the Motor Vehicle Department until this month to discover that I should have a $15 tag instead of one that sold for $10. I wonder how far I'd get if I went around to some of my printing customers and having accounts departments also show a very pleasing increase.

Persistent Workers Sure To Win Cash Prizes, Says Campaign Manager

By Paul Radin

Workers' Standings Published This Wk.

This is First Week of The News' Big Subscription Campaign

By C. T. Stockton, Campaign Manager

Very few things in life are really worthwhile as ever obtained unless the person who obtains them "has the stuff" in him or her to win out. The champions in every line are those who work and dig and never said "die."

In the News' "Goodwill" subscription campaign, the same people who have the "stuff" and even those who get cash prizes for their efforts will have benefited greatly from the success of meeting various types of people. One contestant said yesterday that she was learning a great deal about herself and wouldn't give up her job for anything else. She said she didn't win that big prize.

Now we all know that the successful salesman meets many rejections in his work. Rebuffs don't stop him, though. He keeps on selling to everyone, and at the end of the day or week he has a huge volume of business rolled up and he is a big salary and called a fine salesman. If he gave up after a few rejections, he would be a "quitter."

There will be some surprises when the standing of the candidates is published. Some who are not so high may be surprised to find that they're right up there with the rest. Some who might think they have a good lead might have a few rivals for leadership. But want and see work for a few hours each day for the determination to get a prize regardless of the rejections confronted.

Most of the candidates should consider this prospect of the News' subscription campaign as a challenge to their Glades newspaper at a cost of less than 4 cents a copy. All news of a free hour each day for $2.00 and Palm Beach county is found in THE NEWS. This paper keeps people posted about the city and the county and the state.

Naturally THE NEWS already has a large list of subscribers. These people like the paper and would readily subscribe if approached by some candidate who is making a bid for the $500 prize or one of the other prizes.

It's yours if you go out after it. After all, it depends on your own efforts. You can afford to subscribe for a few hours each day for $2.00. Don't forget the big bonus offer in the first period. Votes in the Army, Navy and Air Force are open each Wednesday to 9 p.m. Saturday until 9 p.m.
